

ASIAN COMPOSERS LEAGUE ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION FORM

About the Asian Composers League (ACL)

The ACL was established in 1973 by leading composers from Taiwan, Japan, Hong Kong and Korea, and is now one of the most vibrant and active communities of composers in the Asia-Pacific region. There are currently more than fifteen Full Members (see the ACL website for a full list of members: www.asiancomposersleague.org).

The objectives of the League are:

- To promote, preserve, and develop the musical cultures of the Asia-Pacific region, particularly in the field of music composition; and
- To further interests of composers in the Asia-Pacific region through representation and negotiation, and to achieve recognition of their rights in national and international law.

The ACL Conference-Festivals are magnificent events held on average every 18 months, and are hosted by Full Members under the auspices of the ACL. It is an important vehicle for Asian-Pacific composers to present their works, exchange ideas and build solidarity.
